Prayer for the Nations: Mexico (Latin America)*

- Diseases carried by the Spanish in the 16th century destroyed the early Aztec Empire. Its colonial past makes Mexico's culture distinctive; part Amerindian and part Spanish. A total of 298 languages are spoken in Mexico.
- Corruption and an uneven distribution of wealth in Mexico have created a wide gap between the rich and the poor. The country's economy has improved since it made trade agreements with the United States and Canada, but widespread poverty remains. A third of the population live hand to mouth under the poverty line.
- For 130 years Mexico officially separated itself from the Catholic Church – but since 1992 restrictions for the Catholic Church has been lifted and there is greater freedom for religious minorities.
- Over half the population is less than 20 years of age.
- The peaceful change of government in the year 2000 has given hope to many that things can change for the better in Mexico.
- 18 million people live in poverty in Mexico City - one of the biggest and most polluted cities in the world. 7 million live in filthy housing as squatters. As many as 600,000 children sleep on the streets each night. Few Christians are working among the cities poorest and most needy people.
- Pray that churches can develop effective ways of reaching out Mexico's 3.8 million students.
- The national media likes to portray evangelical Christians as being anti-Mexican. Pray that on a 'one to one' level Christians can share with people about God and break down these prejudices.
- Pray that the new government can bring hope and strong leadership and tackle the nation's poverty gap
